

Zoltán Szöllősi

Zoltán Szöllősi is a senior manager at the Advisory service line of Deloitte Hungary. Zoltán has been managing audit and advisory projects for 8 years, concentrating on financial and telecommunications sectors in particular. His expert area covers quality assurance of IT projects, data management and data protection issues, inspection of segregation of duties, ITIL or COBIT-based testing of IT processes, data migration reviews and interface testing. Recently he has been involved in several IFRS implementation project as leader of the IT stream.

He started his carrier as an audit assistant during which he gained experience in the Hungarian and IFRS bookkeeping practices. Subsequently, he conducted and managed internal audit and compliance projects. Furthermore, he performed complex project management tasks involving several business process development and implementation, including project and change management. Ha has also been involved in several IT audit and risk assessment projects in the last 5 years.